DECISION

Dispute Codes: CNC

Introduction

This hearing dealt with an application by the tenant for an order to set aside a notice to end tenancy for cause.

Both parties attended this hearing and were given a full opportunity to be heard, to present affirmed testimony, to make submissions and to call witnesses. The landlord was represented by their agents. The tenant's advocate also attended the hearing.

As both parties were in attendance I confirmed service of documents. The parties confirmed receipt of each other's evidence. I find that the parties were served with evidentiary materials in accordance with sections 88 and 89 of the Act.

At the outset of the hearing, the landlord informed me that on October 31, 2018, the parties had entered into a mutual agreement to end the tenancy, effective November 30, 2018.

Analysis

Section 55 of the Residential Tenancy Act addresses orders of possession. Section 55(2)(d) states that a landlord may request an order of possession of a rental unit if the landlord and tenant have agreed in writing that the tenancy is ending.

In this case, the parties agreed that on October 31, 2018, they had entered into a mutual end to tenancy agreement, effective November 30, 2018.

In these situations, the Residential Tenancy Act provides that the tenant has been deemed to have accepted the end of the tenancy, on the date set out in the mutual end to tenancy agreement and must vacate the rental unit by that date. Accordingly, the tenant's application to cancel the notice is dismissed.

During the hearing the landlord made a request under section 55 of the legislation for an order of possession effective November 30, 2018.

Pursuant to the mutual end to tenancy agreement, I grant the landlord an order of possession effective by 1:00pm on November 30, 2018. Should the tenant fail to comply with the order, the order may be filed in the Supreme Court of British Columbia and enforced as an order of that Court.

Conclusion

Based on the mutual agreement, the tenant's application to cancel the notice to end tenancy is dismissed and the tenancy will end by 1:00pm on November 30, 2018.

This decision is made on authority delegated to me by the Director of the Residential Tenancy Branch under Section 9.1(1) of the Residential Tenancy Act.
